The New Grade School . . .

TO THE P.C.S. FAMILY:

As each of you reads this yearbook, you will take pride in the accomplishments of our school's activities. We aim to give all activities an equal chance to prosper; we don't want to over-emphasize certain activities at the expense of others. We like our share of championships and top ratings; but we are more interested in seeing more boys and girls in activities that develop their best skills and teach them to work and play in a cooperative way. As we near the goal of "every pupil successful in some worthwhile activity," we shall be nearer the time when everyone will have a share in building the best of school spirit. It is "your school" only when you help make it better through what you give to it.

To the yearbook staff, congratulations on the unique book you have given us. The quality of the book has improved so steadily since that first yearbook in 1937 that the job of the following year's staff is made exceedingly difficult. You accepted that responsibility well.

To the seniors, our first class to come all the way through the central school, I salute the records that you have made. More than an average number of you have left feats of scholastic and activity skill that will give succeeding classes something to shoot at. And I must laud the class spirit that led to your New York trip. Who can deny that that trip was a pacemaker!

As all of you read this book and re-read it through the years, I am convinced that your thoughts will re-echo my own, "1951-52 was a great year together in P.C.S."

GROVE A. NAGEL, Principal.

Forward: Thirteen Years of Centralization

This year marks a milestone in the educational history of Phelps. The class of 1952 will be the first class ever to complete its entire schooling in Phelps Central School.

As a result of an election held on September 29, 1938, thirteen former rural districts and the old Phelps Union and Classical School were combined to give Phelps the advantages of a centralized school system.

On December 31, 1938, ground was broken for an addition to the existing school building. By that time many changes in the old building were already underway. The offices were moved downstairs, trading places with the library; the "lab" was installed in 205, which at that time was the commercial room. In the summer of '39 the familiar tile was placed on the corridor floors of P.C.S., the auditorium was enclosed, and the old study hall was made into two new rooms, 201 and 202.

After a flag raising ceremony on the morning of September 18, 1939, the Phelps Central School family of 700 pupils settled down for work and play—in a space sufficient for only 400. Grade pupils came for only half a day; the typists worked on the stage; the band rehearsed in the Methodist Church; and the Class of '52, at that time members of Phelps' first kindergarten, met in the Presbyterian Church.

The entire school was occupied for the first time on November 27 of that same year. The students were almost awed by the gymnasium and locker room set-up the homemaking classes' model apartment, the spacious commercial room, and the low cost cafeteria meals, all of which are things we take for granted today.

On January 29, 1940, about a thousand people attended exercises held in the auditorium formally dedicating the new central school. But the community continued its growth and the school once again became so overcrowded that the need for expansion could no longer be denied. Since there was no room for an addition to the main building, a new edifice was erected on the former playground. This loss of playground facilities resulted in the adoption of the single session day in Phelps Central School. In September 1951, the ultra-modern new elementary school opened its doors. Its 15 spacious rooms provide facilities for 400 pupils from kindergarten through the third grade to study, work, play, eat, and learn.

We quote from an article on the new central school which appeared in the 1940 Highlights:

"The boys and girls of the school have this year shown a new zest in school respect, spirit, and co-operation. From now on, the success of the Phelps Central School depends on the way that we show the people of the community that their confidence in us was not misplaced in providing us with these improved facilities. To that end, we, the members of the student body pledge ourselves."

In thirteen years of centralization have we answered this challenge? Have we fulfilled this pledge?

Dedication . . .

The class of '52 takes great pleasure in dedicating this issue of Phelps Highlights to our two advisors, Miss Joyce E. Mundy and Mr. Wilbur K. Hartmann.

To Mr. Hartmann, we owe many thanks for his excellent guidance and understanding through our four years of high school. Without his help our activities would not have achieved the success they did.

To Miss Mundy, we owe our success in activities. She has made our four years enjoyable by her understanding, enthusiasm, and faithfulness.

G.E.M. - It has sure been a pleasure looking back with you for the past four years. Your artistic touch has aided the class tremendously in their various undertakings. Now that the four years are about to the end, many thanks to you for all the help we in helping the class of '52, your friends as always.
Wilbur

Started in 1937 as the Phelps High School yearbook, the Phelps Highlights had already celebrated two birthdays when Phelps Central School came into existence. The "Yearbook" as it is known to the vast majority of P.C.S. students has been published during fifteen of the most important years in the history of Phelps, America, and the World. In addition to providing an accurate written and pictorial record of the events within Phelps Central, the Highlights has faithfully commemorated the events of the years from 1937 to the present. The Defense Effort and the Phelps Educational Centennial are just two of the many events the Phelps Highlights has preserved in writing for the future. Now, we, the class of '52, the first class to complete its entire schooling in Phelps Central School, have chosen to commemorate thirteen years of centralization.

The first project was the advertising campaign, by which the Highlights is financed. In this, as in all of the staff's activities, much of the success is owed to the faithful help and guidance of our advisors, Miss Mary Louise Connolly and Mr. Wilbur K. Hartmann, to whom we owe a great debt of gratitude.

Later in the year Moser Studios of Rochester took the pictures, which together with the written material was sent to the Echo Press to be printed.

Many thanks to our advertisers without whose generous support you would not be holding this yearbook in your hands.

1952 Class History . . .

In June of 1948 the Class of 1952, with a record number of sixty-three members including eleven honor students, turned its back on eighth grade and embarked on its high school journey.

The class's first job after entering high school was to choose the officers who were to be its leaders. Assisted by our new advisors, Miss Joyce Mundy, Miss Jane Golding, and Mr. Wilbur Hartmann, we elected the following officers: President, Donald Fridley; vice-president, Thomas Filiatreau; secretary, Susan Brown; and treasurer Kathryn Gleason. In February of our freshman year, we presented, in assembly, a one-act play entitled "Wildcat Willie Gets Girl Trouble." In the following month the class ventured to its initial money making project, which took the form of a donkey basketball game. This event seemed to have been enjoyed by all and proved to be very profitable to the Freshman class.

At the first class meeting of our sophomore year, we installed Donald Fridley as president, Jack Donaldson as vice-president, Kathryn Gleason as secretary, and Donna Ryan as treasurer.

By this time, visions of New York City were beginning to take form in our minds. For our second financial venture was presented two one-act plays; one, a "hillbilly" comedy entitled "Comin' 'Round the Mountain," and the other, a mystery entitled "Whodunnit?" On this occasion we played to a full house and boosted our treasury considerably. Not quite so profitable, but very enjoyable was the card party and informal dance the Class of '52 sponsored in the spring of its sophomore year.

Our second high school year concluded, we were now getting into the swing of things. Every school activity was found to have members of the class in prominent positions, and we eagerly looked forward to our return to dear old P.C.S. as upper classmen.

This was no sooner said than done, for that fall we found our lockers situated in the cross-corridor, and we were, we thought, becoming quite grown-up.

As juniors, our class had been whittled down to ^{43 Grads} forty-six members. We now also had only two advisors, since Miss Golding had left us the preceding June. Our first job, of course, was that of electing class officers. They were as follows: Harry Peake, president; Donald Nash, vice-president; Elizabeth Burnisky, secretary; and Mary Rathbun, treasurer.

In November of this year the class ordered those all-important class rings, which were being displayed by January.

Our first money-making activity of the year was the sale of orange and black pencils with the basketball schedule printed on them.

In March the Class of '52 again brought the donkeys to town for a basketball game brought a capacity crowd and a tidy profit for the class.

On the evening of April 13, we brought something new to the auditorium of P.C.S. in the form of "The Dixie Minstrels." The show consisted of class talent and was our greatest financial success thus far. The audience apparently enjoyed it very much, but it afforded the class as much pleasure too.

By May 18 of our third high school year, the annual Junior Prom had rolled around, and this time it was our turn to sponsor it. We called the dance the "Isle of Paradise Prom" and decorated the gym along an Hawaiian theme.

It seemed that no sooner had we entered our junior year than it was all over. Although we couldn't possibly make ourselves believe it at the time, we were entering the home stretch. Perhaps just as hard to see was the "big city" looming on the horizon.

Class Prophecy . . .

Oh, here comes the mailman. I wonder if anything came for me today. Only one envelope, let's see now, it's an invitation to my class reunion. "Your presence is requested at a class of 1952 reunion being held in the Phelps Central School Gymnasium, June 21, 1962, at 1:00. Come and see old friends and classmates."

June twenty-first, that's next Saturday afternoon. I'll have to check and see if I'm on duty next Saturday. It doesn't seem like ten years have passed since the class of 1952 left its old Alma Mater. Ten years isn't really such a long time, because for me they have been filled with many wonderful experiences in the field of nursing.

Saturday finally arrives and I set out to attend my class reunion. Kathryn Gleason and I go together because, since we live in the same town, and work in the same hospital, it will be easier and more pleasant to travel together.

Four hours later we pull up in the bus garage parking lot and start out for the gymnasium. Not having known that the gymnasium was enlarged, we are amazed when we see the size of the room into which we are directed.

There is Miss Mundy and Mr. Hartmann. Upon inquiring, I find that Mr. Hartmann now is the Principal of Phelps Central, and Jack Donaldson is acting as Vice-Principal. Miss Mundy is Art Director at her old Alma Mater, Syracuse University.

Going on, I find Bonnie Hulster and Evelyn Eggleton chatting in a corner. Bonnie tells me that she and Evelyn are planning on erecting a Youth Center in Phelps and directing it themselves. They are just a couple of home town gals.

Lowell Falkey is over by the refreshment table along with Bob Nagel. That's no surprise, they say that Bob's appetite increases as he eats. Lowell tells me that he is coach at Clifton Springs Central; they haven't lost a game since he's been there. Between mouthfuls, Bob informs me that he is teaching Mechanical Engineering at Colgate University. Both Lowell and Bob are still bachelors by the way!!

I am told that Harry Peake and Don Richmond run a garage over in Newark. They specialize in selling car accessories and Don gives a few hotrod lessons as a sideline.

Carol Oaks, Betty Burnisky, and Jeanne Lundgard, are next in sight. Carol and Jeanne have a secretarial school in Rochester. They call it the O. & L. Secretarial Institute. They are doing pretty well as managers of a school. Betty is Nursing Director at Rochester General Hospital and she tells me that Donna Ryan is running a Pizzeria in downtown Rochester. I made a note of this because pizza has been a weakness of mine since my high school days.

After talking with the girls, I saw a group of fellows chatting about something which seemed to be very interesting, so I thought I'd see what it was all about. I recognized the fellows as Dick Lyon, Gordon Minns, and Bob Mosich, it seems that they are all truck farmers and they were discussing the poor corn crop of last year. Speaking of farmers, I was informed that Donald Fridley and Jim Goodman have a dude ranch in Texas and Alan Van Deventer is a stock buyer living in a town just east of Jim and Don's ranch, the Bar DJ.

Barbara Gaylord and Bonnie Krager tell me that since they graduated ten years ago, they haven't once lost track of one another. Bonnie married a month after she graduated and now has three children. Barbara is a social worker in Chicago and is now trying to start a fund to purchase an oversized Air-Wick to deodorize those famous Chicago Stockyards.

Two girls talking on the sidelines attracted my attention and I later found them to be Mary Ann Craig and June Conklin, seems that Mary Ann and Junie are partners in crime! They ran a Lonely Hearts Club in New York and they tell me that Jack Lundgard, now a sailor, is one of their steady customers. I thought a sailor had a girl in every port; could be that's Jack's trouble!!

Mary Rathbun and Margaret Harland graduated from Geneseo State Teacher's College and Mary says that she and Margaret are now teaching at schools in Rochester. Mary is a grammar school teacher and Maggie is specializing in teaching at a school for the deaf children.

Warren Herendeen and Tom Filiatreau were next in sight and at first glance, it seemed they were arguing. Upon further investigation, I understand that Tom and Warren are practicing for a debate which will be presented later in the program. Both the fellows are professional debaters and faring very well at their chosen profession.

On my way into the gym, I noticed a beautiful car parked outside which I thought was some foreign make, but after asking Gerry Schaefer, now an auto mechanic, I discovered that it was a car designed especially for Ronnie Van Camp, a prominent oil tycoon. It was designed by Don Nash, who holds a very important position as a Mechanical Engineer and car designer.

Glancing at my program for the entertainers' names, I spied Barb and Ray Dunham's names. I already was familiar with their T. V. program, "Barb & Ray" and was very glad to see them perform in person.

I always liked beautiful clothes, and when I saw that gorgeous red dress next to that lovely blue one, I just had to go over and see who owned them. The gals turned out to be Joanie Post and Millie Canne. Millie tells me that she is runing a Travel Bureau in California and that she gives occasional lectures on travel in schools surrounding her town. Joanie is a photographer's model and she telis me that she loves the work.

Zeke Barry and Charlie Overslaugh seemed to be having an interesting conversation, and being a woman, I listened in on their conversation and I found out that Zeke was a forester in Canada's Wilds, and that Charlie was an efficiency expert. He was one of the most ambitious fellows to graduate from the Busy Bee Efficiency School. Well, they always say that sometimes we outgrow child-hood habits, and I guess Charlie is no exception to the rule.

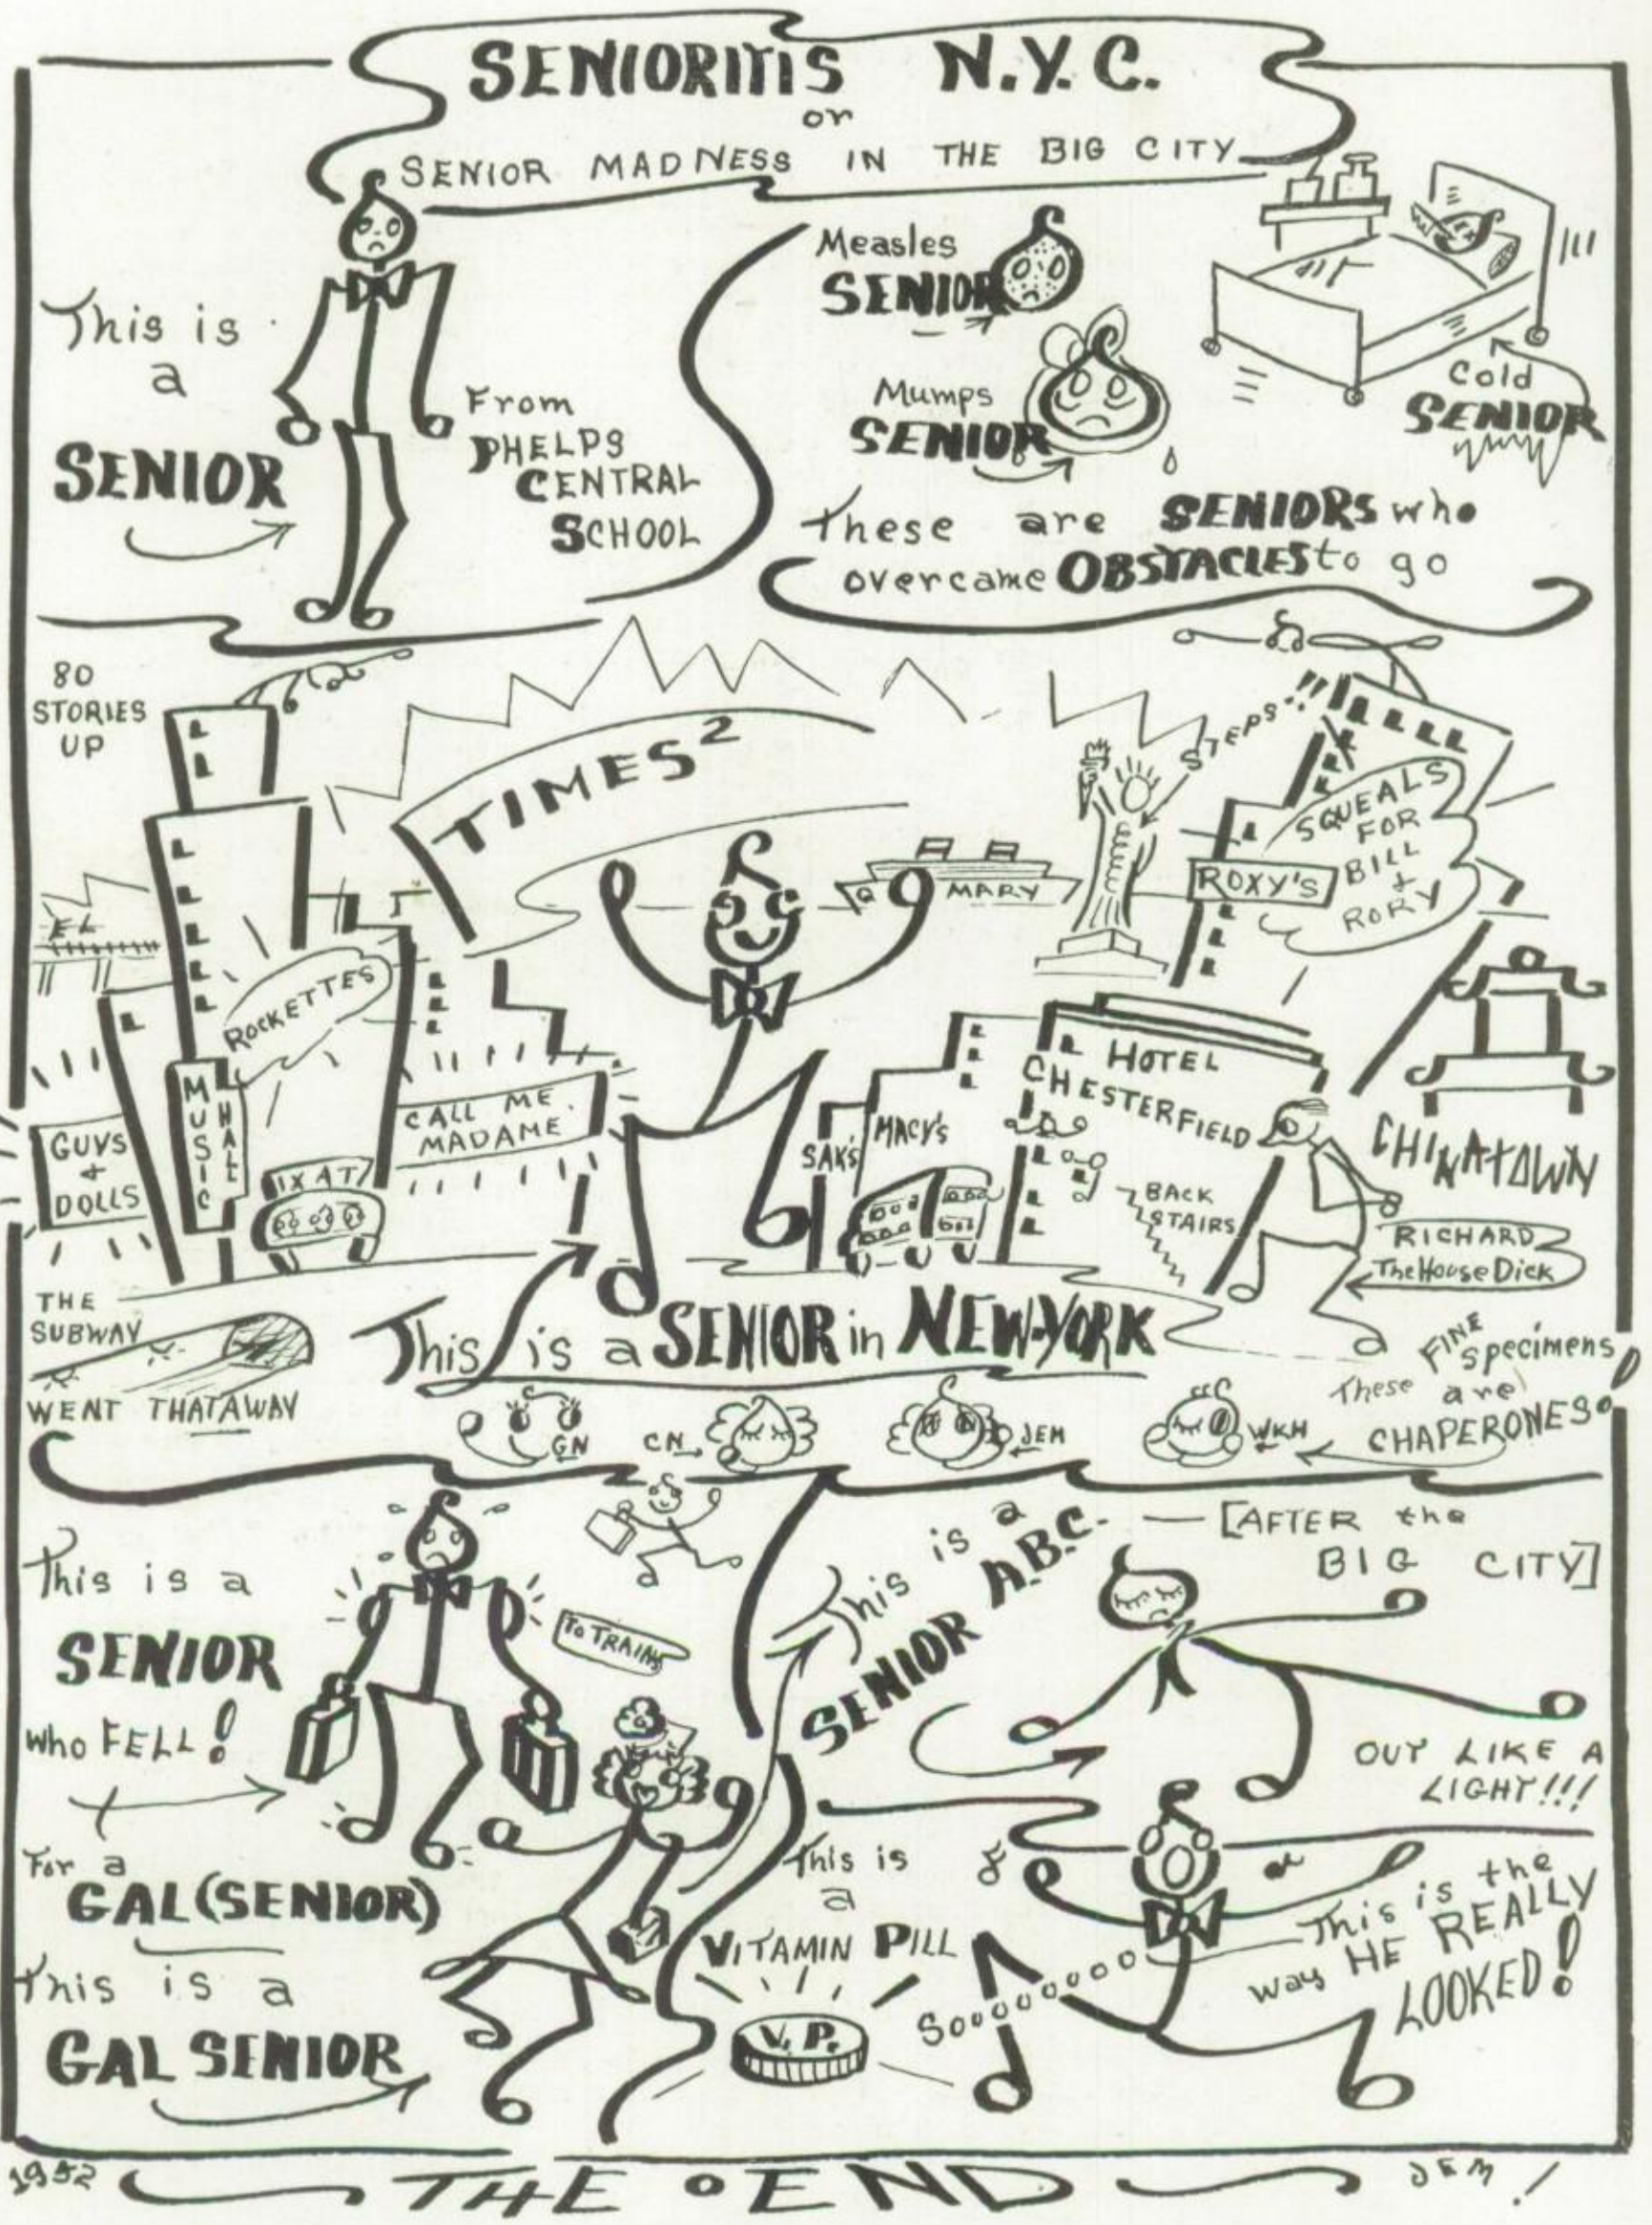

Charlene Ogden is a member of the married set of the class and she seems to be very happy as a housewife and mama.

Let's see, there seems to be three fellows that I have missed. Levern DeRuyter, Doug Opdyke, and Dick Day.

After inquiring, I found that Doug was bringing the two feilows and his car broke down. Doug thought he would use the same car he had in the high school days (for sentimental reasons), but it just didn't quite make it. After asking around I did find that Doug is a school guidance director and LeVern and Dick are both prosperous farmers.

Now, I have met and talked to all of my high school chums and though it has been ten years since we all graduated, I'm sure that the memories of our school days will always be fresh in our minds, and that at our next reunion, I will find them all as happy and prosperous as I found them today.

Senior Class Trip . . .

A dream became a reality on the morning of April 13, when the senior class embarked on its long awaited New York trip. Forty-three excited seniors and their chaperones, Mr. and Mrs. Nagel, Miss Mundy, and Mr. Hartmann met at the bus garage at 10:00 to board the buses which were to take them to Lyons, where they would get on the train that would take them to the "Big City." When they arrived in Lyons they learned that the train was about an hour late, so everyone sat down and patiently waited.

The time on the train was spent in singing, reading, talking, playing cards, or enjoying the scenery. When the class arrived at Grand Central Station they took taxis to the Hotel Chesterfield, which was to be their home for their four days in New York.

After they had gotten settled in their rooms, everyone went out for dinner and then to the Radio City Music Hall to see the movie "Singing In The Rain," the magnificent Easter Pageant, and, of course, the Rockettes. After the show many members of the class walked to Times Square to see "the great white way" and get a bite to eat.

On Tuesday morning everyone awoke bright and early, eager to get started, even if they did have only two or three hours sleep. Spirits were a bit dampened when it was discovered that it was raining. After breakfast all boarded a bus for a tour of lower New York. The bus left them at the pier where they boarded a boat which took them to the Statue of Liberty. Most of the class walked to the top of the Statue and were very disappointed when they couldn't see much of the skyline because of the rain. Tuesday afternoon a boat trip around Manhattan Island had been planned, but because of the weather a trip to the Museum of Natural History was substituted. Tuesday night the group saw the stage show "Call Me Madam" starring Ethel Merman and Richard Eastham.

Wednesday morning dawned bright and clear and some members of the class got up early and went down to the docks to take a tour through the "Queen Mary." At 9:30 the class took a tour through Rockefeller Center. This tour ended on the roof of the RCA Building where the class could get a good view of New York and where they watched the "Queen Mary" sail. The next thing on the agenda was a tour through St. Patrick's Cathedral. Because they hadn't seen anything of Upper New York, the class rode a Fifth Avenue double-decker bus up Riverside Drive. The program for Wednesday afternoon included another musical "Guys and Dolls" starring Vivian Blaine, Robert Alda, and Isabelle Bigley. That evening the group ate at the Port Arthur Restaurant in Chinatown where only Chinese food is served. Some members of the class took the elevated railway and some took the subway to get to Chinatown. Those who took the elevated had to walk quite a distance to board it and since they had to go right by the Waldorf Astoria, they went in and walked around the lobby. Wednesday evening the class separated and everyone went to any movie he wanted to see. Most went to the Roxy Theater where they saw the movie "With a Song in My Heart" and the Easter show on the stage. Other members of the class saw "Quo Vadis" or "Bend of the River" with Billy Eckstein and Fran Warren in person.

Thursday morning was sunny and warm and the class went to the Bronx Zoo. That afternoon was free, but most of the class went shopping. Macy's, Gimbel's and the Empire State Building were included in the travels of most of the seniors that afternoon. In the evening the class went to Castleholm Restaurant, a Swedish restaurant, which serves a smorgasbord type meal. After dinner some went to the RCA Building's roof once more in order to see the city at night. The class ended its New York trip by attending the television show "Ford Festival" starring James Melton.

After the seniors went back to the hotel, got their bags, and went over to Grand Central Station where they boarded their chartered car for their sleepless ride home. The train arrived in Lyons about 6:00 A. M. and the Phelps Central busses were waiting to take forty-three very tired seniors back to Phelps. Everybody liked New York but they all agree that Phelps is a pretty nice town.

The class would like to take this opportunity to thank the parents, teachers, and friends who made this trip possible.

On the trip home from New York the class spent the night reliving "Dixie Minstrel" days, dancing in the aisle, and having a general good time. One favorite pastime was rewriting familiar songs to fit the occasion; for example, "Singing in the Rain" became "Singing on the Train." In honor of this never to be forgotten ride Mrs. Nagel composed the following poem to be sung to the tune of "Good Night Ladies":

So long, Seniors,
So long, kids
So long, Fifty-two,
You've put us on the skids.

We'll never be the same again
Same again, same again;
We'll never be the same agin,
You've got us off our lids!

In the fall of this, our senior year, we chose the officers who were to lead us through the climax of our high school journey. We re-elected Harry Peake as president, Donald Nash as vice-president, and Mary Rathbun as treasurer. We also installed Jean Lundgard as class secretary.

Our first money-making activity as Seniors was the magazine subscription drive. The drive was a rousing success, topping all previous magazine sales records, and practically doubling our treasury.

As soon as the magazine drive was over, rehearsals were started for the annual senior play. On November 28, we presented the three-act mystery entitled "The Case of the Missing Heirs."

The sale of refreshments and the sponsoring of after-game dances during basketball season also proved a good treasury-booster.

On December 21, the Class of '52 put on another traditional highlight of the year. This was the Senior Ball, called the "Holiday Ball," which was well-attended by students and adults alike.

On March 28, we gave what we called "the new version" of the "Dixie Minstrels." This was, like the minstrel show of the previous year, a rousing success. The profit from this show boosted our treasury way over the amount needed for the New York Trip, but we could find no cause to complain.

No sooner was the minstrel a part of the past than we found ourselves leaving on the long awaited trip to the "big city" itself. There's no need to describe how we enjoyed the trip. Forty-three seniors in New York City aren't likely to reflect too much gloom or boredom.

The few remaining weeks flew as if they had wings. First came Class Night with all its jokes and songs; then came baccalaureate with all its solemnity. And now, as we pause at the door of graduation and look back over our wonderful school days, we can only hope that the forthcoming years of our lives will be as full, as happy, and as worthwhile as those we have known at P.C.S.

Senior Play . . .

First row: M. Rathbun, D. Ryan, J. Post.

Second row: T. Filiatreau, E. Burnisky, Y. Krager, B. Gaylord, A. Travis, D. Nash.

Third row: Miss Joyce Mundy, Mr. Wilbur K. Hartmann, directors; F. Barry, J. Donaldson, D. Richmond.

On November 29th, the class of 1952 presented a three-act play entitled "The Case of the Missing Heirs." This was a mystery-comedy which took place in cold, gloomy old Castle Wentz on a rainy Friday the 13th. The mystery and intrigue of the play itself were intensified by a very effective home-made thunder storm—lightning, thunder, and wind—all accomplished by an excellent stage and sound effects crew.

One of the most startling members of the play cast was the tall, sinister "Phantom," ably portrayed by Jack Donaldson. His blank-faced accomplice, Mrs. Kite was characterized by Betty Burnisky. In contrast to these chilly characters was a money-hungry, overdressed damsel named Mrs. Allerdyce Beeman, played by Arden Travis. Mrs. Beeman's daughter, Maybelle, was seventeen, giggly and rather stupid—she was done by Donna Ryan. The first normal person to enter the plot was Tom Filiatreau as Perriot Preston, a bright young mystery novelist. He was accompanied by his pretty fiancée, Gwen Talbot (Joan Post) and a brawny, but brainless bodyguard called Bruiser Barnes. Frank Barry played the likeable Bruiser, who was once a champion fighter, almost. Louise Thomas, a typical working girl, was portrayed by Mary Rathbun, and Don Nash was the humble butler, Wentworth. The last, but not least important member of the cast was Don Richmond, who played Lawyer Graham.

The play was directed by the class advisors, Miss Joyce Mundy and Mr. Wilbur K. Hartmann. The secret fireplace and complex lighting effects proved to be very effective and the event was very successful in every way.

On March 28, 1952, the senior class presented their 1952 version of the "Dixie Minstrels." The first minstrel show last year was so successful that it was decided to have another this year.

The olio of "The Dixie Minstrels" featured various talent of the class. The skit "Our Village Band," included the following persons: Betty Burnisky, Raymond Dunham, Kathryn Gleason, Margaret Harland, Jean Lundgard, Jack Lundgard, Donald Nash, Carol Oaks, Charles Overslaugh, Harry Peake, Joan Post, Mary Rathbun, Gerald Schafer, and Arden Travis. Next Jack Donaldson gave a monologue, "Are Women More Beautiful Than Men?" Joan Post did a tap dance and Arden Travis and Jean Lundgard showed the audience how to do the Charleston. A skit, "Lights Out," featured the following persons: Jack Donaldson, Faye Jordan, Yvonne Krager, Jack Lundgard, and Gerald Schafer. As the finale for the olio, the Girls' Sextette, including Betty Burnisky, Kathryn Gleason, Joan Post, Mary Rathbun, Donna Ryan, and Arden Travis, sang "Blue Room" and "Easter Parade."

The second part of the minstrel saw Donald Richmond as interlocutor with the following end men singing their various songs: Franklin Barry, "Down Yonder" and "On Moonlight Bay"; Richard Day, "Why Did I Kiss That Girl?" and "In Old Shanty Town"; Thomas Filiatreau "Sweet Jennie Lee" and "Down on the Farm"; Donald Fridley, "Ma" and "Those Wedding Bells Are Breaking Up That Old Gang of Mine"; Robert Nagel, "Wait For Me Mary" and "Put Your Arms Around Me Honey"; Ronald VanCamp, "Meanderin'" and "I Love the Sunshine of Your Smile."

For the opening chorus the whole company sang "Hello," "I Don't Care" and "Is It True What They Say About Dixie?" The whole company sang a medley of songs for the finale, "Yankee Doodle Dandy," "Lights Out" and "You're A Grand Old Flag."

Much credit for the success of the show was due to Donna Ryan who was the accompanist and to Miss Joyce Mundy and Mr. Wilbur K. Hartmann who directed the production.

Six games were played by the Bulldogs in '51; three non-league and three league games. The Bulldogs won two out of three league games, to end the season with a three way tie for first place with Victor and Red Jacket.

The season started with a defeat at the hands of a powerful Romulus team, 32-22. The next game was a league loss for the Bulldogs with a strong Victor club taking the honors 45-34. Following this league game, a non-league game with Victor was staged, with Victor again taking the upper hand and winning 42-20.

The Bulldogs next journeyed to Honeoye to defeat the small, but powerful team 43-0. The first game with Red Jacket, a non-leaguer, produced just about the most thrilling game of the season. Red Jacket finally squeezed by and won the game with an 18-13 score. The last game of the season was a league game with that same Red Jacket six with the Bulldogs coming out on top with a score of 25-12.

Faced with the loss of veteran linemen Frank Barry, Dick Day, Don Fridley, Bob Nagel and Ronny Van Camp; along with crack quarterback Lowell Falkey, Coach Cook plans to rebuild with the returning members and hopes for a successful season next year.

Varsity Basketball . . .

This year's season wasn't a bad one, it was just one of those years when the ball played tricks on the fellows.

The Bulidogs finished the regular season in sixth place, with a league record of eight wins, as against eight losses. In non-league games, the record was one win, and one loss.

Two of the most exciting games of the season were a league game with Red Jacket, and a non-league game with Ovid. In both games the Bulldogs proved that fighting spirit, and the will to win are important factors in winning ball games.

Next year, Coach Cook will have the job of filling the varsity roster with the up and coming basketball men. Eleven of the twelve varsity men will be graduating this year. They are Richard Day, Raymond Dunham, Lowell Falkey, Thomas Filiatreau, Donald Fridley, James Goodman, Robert Mosich, Robert Nagel, Harry Peake, and Ronald Van Camp. Because of an unfortunate accident at home, Day was forced to leave the squad. All of the team members were sorry to see him leave.

Coach Cook is looking forward to a successful season next year.

Varsity Baseball . . .

The Bulldogs had a very successful season in '51, winning five league games and losing three, finishing in third place behind Red Jacket and Victor. With an overall total of 7 won and 6 lost.

With the loss of veteran pitcher, Ken Smith, Bud Bishop and Albert Delamarter, it appeared that the Bulldogs had a hard way to go, but the fighting spirit of the boys soon proved differently.

The season started slowly with Phelps losing the first two games to Penn Yan and Bloomfield. Then the Bulldogs struck back with an impressive 10-4 victory over Lyons Central. We split two games with De Sales, and defeated Honeoye, Middlesex, and Victor; 29-2, 8-4, and 9-0 respectively. The team lost the next two games to Penn Yan and Red Jacket, but it came back to beat the old rival, Clifton Springs 5-2. The team journeyed to Gorham and was beaten but bounced back to win the final game of the season against Naples, 11-5.

This year's team faced the season with the loss of Dick Eggleton, Ken Miller, Don Minns, Ed Schleimer, Al Sutfin, Paul Vandermark, and pitchers Bill Conklin and Lee Walters. Nevertheless the boys who are left hope for a successful season.

The 1951 Track Team under the direction of Mr. Charles J. Schott, had a very successful year, winning the county meet between Victor, Red Jacket and Clifton Springs.

Although losing meets to Penn Yan and Palmyra, it showed its superiority in the county.

At the county meet, Phelps had seven boys qualify for the sectionals at Rochester. They were: Roger Goodman, 220 yard dash and relay; Dick Lyon in the mile race; Don Nash in the quarter mile run; Charles Overslaugh, 100 yard dash and relay; Ed Schleimer in the 880 run; and Robert Webb in the relay. There were two alternates; Edward Schleimer in the 220 yard dash and Terrance Sutfin in the half-mile or 880.

In the four meets held last year, the team took 15 first places, 11 second places, 19 third places and 3 fourth places.

Coach Schott will have to build a team for 1952 but with veterans, Roger Goodman, Richard Lyon, Donald Nash, and Robert Webb returning, hopes for a successful season are high.

CHEERLEADING

Junior Varsity:

Last fall, Margie Scherbyn, captain, Charlotte Adams, Jean Benge, Bonnie Iddings and Janet Nagel were elected to be our J. V. cheerleaders.

During their try-out period, the freshman girls expressed a desire to have five girls to be on the J. V. cheerleading squad. It was approved by the student council so five were elected. In previous years only four girls were elected to be J. V. cheerleaders.

These five freshman girls were quite enthusiastic and thought up many new cheers plus cute new motions for the old ones.

They cheered their team on to sixteen victories.

The J. V. cheerleaders also wish to thank Miss Emily Anderson for her guidance and the students for their co-operation.

This year the band, under the direction of Mr. Frank J. Tamburrino, was composed of approximately fifty-five members. Full band rehearsals were held three times a week and the group prepared to play grade four and five music.

The first public appearances of the band were marching activities in both parades and football games. The annual Community Fair in October was another event in which the band participated, playing mostly marches and short medleys.

Eight delegates from P.C.S. were sent to the All-State sectional band conference at Geneva during November. They were: Jacqueline Banwell, clarinet; Betty Burnisky, French horn; Francis Filiatreau, baritone saxophone; Kathryn Gleason, bassoonist; Bonnie Hatch, bass clarinet; Donna Ryan, timpani; Arden Travis, baritone; and Sara-lee West, flute.

On December 21, 1951, the annual Christmas concert was held and a very memorable performance was given by the band. "Festival Overture" and "Hungarian Dances" were two of the many fine selections performed.

Early in 1952, the band began a series of Sunday afternoon concerts for the public. The purpose of these concerts was to obtain money for the uniform fund. During the summer of 1951 open-air concerts, sponsored by the Phelps merchants, were given weekly. The uniforms, made in the school colors of orange and black, were received in February and displayed to the public at a special Sunday concert. These uniforms are attractive and the group is very proud of them. Band members wish to thank all who supported them by purchasing "band booster" tickets, or by other means.

Officers of the band this year are as follows: Donald Fridley, president; Donna Ryan, vice-president; and Kathryn Gleason, secretary-treasurer.

One of the high points of the year for band members is the NYSSMA Festival contest in late Spring. The Festival was on an audition basis and the band performed several difficult selections. For this excellent performance at Syracuse on May 17, the band received an "A" rating.

Next year the band will be minus about twenty people, who were members of the class of 1952. The seniors wish to take this opportunity to wish the best of luck to the band of 1953.

The first song was sung as the chorus came down the outside aisles, carrying lighted candles in the dark auditorium. This was very effective and the chorus received many compliments.

In May, the New York State School Music Association Festival was held in Syracuse and the Varsity Choir attended and received a "B" rating. Also in May the annual spring concert was held with the Mixed Chorus participating.

The chorus made its debut this year at the annual Spring Concert.

TRIPLE TRIO

The Triple Trio, under the direction of Miss Kathryn Schuster, has had a busy schedule during its first year of organization. Originally a sextette, the group now consists of eight seniors and one junior. The Trio sang at the state music festival and received a good rating. During the school year the girls sang at banquets and various town club meetings. Some selections done by the girls were: "Easter Parade," "Give Me Your Tired, Your Poor," "Among My Souvenirs," and "Frog Capers." For performing at the NYSSMA at Geneva on May 24, a rating of "B" was received.

Student Council . . .

First row: J. Wheadon, M. Scherbyn, S. Tyman, J. Scherbyn, H. Peake, F. Richmond, Mr. Wilbur K. Hartmann, advisor.

Second row: A. DeWandel, P. Peake, R. VanHemel, D. Salisbury, M. Rathbun, F. Filiatreau, D. Nash.

Third row: R. McDonald, R. Nagel, W. Iddings, B. Enders, K. Gleason, B. Hulster, L. Maines.

The Student Council started its 1951-52 year with the following officers: Harry Peake, president; Frederick Richmond, vice-president; Sue Tyman, secretary; Joanne Scherbyn, treasurer. Wilbur K. Hartmann was the advisor.

The council engaged in a number of projects this year.

A night football game was sponsored by the council in October. It was decided to have welcome signs made for the opposing teams during basketball season. The council entertained players and cheerleaders at one game during the basketball season.

A study was made of the method of electing cheerleaders in surrounding schools and the awarding of school letters other than for sports. A study was also made of the possibility of awarding letters to members of the junior varsity who qualify for them.

It was decided that the Student Council minutes would be read at each class meeting.

In November the council sent three representatives to the Ontario County Student Council Association meeting at Canandaigua. They were: Harry Peake, Joanne Scherbyn, and Sue Tyman. Our school was host in February to the O. C. S. C. A. and Francis Filiatreau, Harry Peake, and Mary Rathbun were the representatives. The final meeting of O. C. S. C. A. was held at Geneva in May and Francis Filiatreau, Harry Peake, and Joanne Scherbyn were sent to represent Phelps.

On April 25, four delegates were sent to the annual Student Council conference at Hornell. They were as follows: Francis Filiatreau, Richard McDonald, Frederick Richmond, and Joanne Scherbyn.

National Honor Society . . .

Character, scholarship, leadership, service, these are the qualities for which members of the National Honor Society are chosen. Election rules of this nation-wide organization require that candidates have spent at least one year in the local school, and that not more than twenty per cent of the junior and senior classes be chosen. A committee consisting of the principal, three teachers, and the students already in the society elects the new members, who, after their initiation, are entitled to wear the emblem of the society, the keystone pin.

This March, Mildred Canne, Warren Herendeen and Douglas Opdyke from the senior class, and Francis Filiatreau, Joanne Scherbyn, and Marjorie Whitson from the junior class were elected to join John Donaldson, Robert Nagel, Harry Peake, Mary Rathbun, and Donna Ryan, five seniors who were elected in their junior year.

At an assembly in April the new members were officially inducted and given the keystone pin and membership card.

Since its establishment in 1941, the Phelps Chapter, Number 2551, of the National Honor Society has inducted ninety seven students, not including this year's members. All these young men and women have been successful in their chosen vocations, thus justifying the faith put in them by their teachers and fellow students at the time of their election.

First row: M. Whitson, J. Scherbyn, M. Rathbun, M. Canne.

Second row: J. Donaldson, W. Herendeen, H. Peake, F. Filiatreau, D. Opdyke, R. Nagel.

Thirteen years of centralization means thirteen years of a school paper in Phelps. In 1939, twenty-two eager students organized the "P.C.S. Review," since then this monthly newspaper has become a tradition. Every Tuesday for thirteen school years the staff of the "Review" has met to work and plan. The result of this working and planning has been a publication which more than fulfills the requirements of any newspaper—to inform, to serve, to entertain.

Besides providing an accurate written record of the month to month happenings in P.C.S. the "Review" has done much for the student body by providing them with a medium of expression. For instance, the establishment of a Student Day in Phelps Central is due to a vigorous campaign by the "Review."

Continuing in this tradition the 1951-52 school paper staff began the year by electing the following officers: John Donaldson, editor-in-chief; Robert Nagel and Donna Ryan, associate editors; Warren Herendeen, art editor; Kathryn Gleason and Robert Nagel, sports editors; Mary Rathbun, business manager; Marjorie Whitson, circulation and exchange manager.

Under the supervision of Miss Mary Louise Connolly and Mr. John Sweeney, six issues were published. One of the highlights of the year was the Seventh Annual Schoolastic Editors' Conference sponsored by the Rochester TIMES-UNION and DEMOCRAT AND CHRONICLE at the River Campus of the University of Rochester, at which Robert Nagel and Donna Ryan, accompanied by Mr. Sweeney represented Phelps. That afternoon the delegates attended the Rochester premier of the motion picture, "The Day the Earth Stood Still."

This year the staff continued the campaign for a youth center for Phelps. In addition, many changes and improvements were incorporated into the paper, including a magazine section, featuring "Bulldoggrel," a poetry page; a sports section; and many new monthly columns. This year the staff not only published the largest "Review," but the issues were considered by many to be the best in the history of the paper.

Senior High Dramatics . . .

The Dramatics Club is an old-timer here in Phelps Central. Founded in 1940, the club was given the name "Eccyclema" after a device used on the Greek stage. This year the club was re-organized under the guidance of Mrs. Esther Worden.

At the initial meeting the following officers were chosen: Jacqueline Ann Dyke, president; John Donaldson, vice-president; and Bonnie Hatch, secretary-treasurer.

The Dramatics Club presented its first production in an assembly on November 30, 1951. The assembly consisted of a skit and a one-act play "Drums in the Night."

In April the club presented for its own pleasure a play "The Brink of Silence."

"Ladies in Retirement," a three-act play, was selected as a work-shop project and was presented at a Dramatics Club soiree in May. This play, which has enjoyed a successful Broadway run and a highly applauded television performance, not only provided the club with a chance for real dramatic acting, but also offered excellent experience in make-up, costuming, and staging.

The Junior High Dramatics Club started the year by having each member do a pantomime for his initiation. Then work was started in earnest on a play entitled "The Christmas Cowboy," to which all junior high students were to be invited. The play was such that all members were able to participate, but the leading parts were taken by Ronald Horton, Mary Lyon, Linda Main, Norma Maines, Carole Mattoon, John Maslyn, John Rector, and Carroll Taney.

The next undertaking was the assembly program on March 21. A pantomime, "And the Lights Went Out," and a skit, "Camp Crowhill Here We Come," were decided on. In the former, Shirley Benge, Joyce Hollenbeck, James Kirch, and Kenneth Overslaugh took part, with Karen Johnson acting as narrator. The main parts in the skit were taken by Dorothy Craig, Ann DeWandel, Linda Main, Edwin Maslyn, Paul Peake, and Richard Shoemaker.

The highlight of the year was a bus trip to Canandaigua, where the members saw the Clare Tree Major players perform in "The Secret Garden."

Senior High Library Club . . .

The Senior High Library Club started the school year by electing the following officers: Mary Mouton, president; Viola McCann, vice-president; Janet Parker, secretary; Barbara Dunham, treasurer.

In the fall the club members enjoyed a Halloween Party at the home of Beverly Hayes.

During Book Week in November, the members helped with Book Week bulletin boards to help advertise the library.

Dance Band . . .

The Dance Band, under the capable leadership of Mr. Frank J. Tamburrino, has had a very successful season during 1951-52. Made up of twelve musicians from all four senior high classes, the band has rehearsed weekly during activity periods.

The group performed during the winter for dances held in the gym after home basketball games. They also gave a performance at the P.T.A. science night during March.

Many popular and modern selections were presented by the band and a fine service has been given to the school.

Twirlers . . .

Baton class was started in September of 1947, with an enrollment of ten members in the original group.

Now, five years later, there are fifteen members in the class ranging from seventh to twelfth graders, taught by Yvonne Krager.

Present plans call for a senior corps of majorettes each year made up of the three best twirlers from each senior class.

Each member worked in the library during the week to help the librarian, Mrs. Janet Merriman. Members were assigned work in the library, in the library work-room or in the new school building library.

The club members enjoyed a Halloween Party and Christmas Party during the first semester of school.

During Book Week the club helped advertise the library and books by putting up bulletin boards in all the class rooms.

In the spring the club sold table napkins as a money raising project.

In October the annual initiation was held during National F. H. A. Week. Informal initiation was held for a week. Each day, each initiate had to wear a certain outfit, prescribed by the members. Formal initiation was held at night for twenty five new members.

The annual Mother-Daughter Banquet was held in May.

During the year the money making activities were as follows: a bake sale in November; selling cookies at Christmas; selling all occasion cards, such as get well cards, and birthday cards; and selling gift wrapping paper and stationery.

Also in July the club released 260 pheasants around the area on members' farms.

In August there were several members that exhibited at the Ontario County Fair. The chapter took a blue ribbon on their safety display which indicated pictures and literature of safety hazards and miniature tractors and equipment with little signs showing the danger spots. The chapter won the State Safety Contest and represented the state in the National Contest. Also in August three of the chapter members, Joseph Taney, Frederick Richmond, and Robert Webb attended the State F.F.A. Camp at Oswegatchie and enjoyed it very much. Also ten members sent entries to the state fair and about twenty-five attended.

The Phelps 4-H Club reorganized in September with the following officers: Paul Peake, president; Bruce Dunham, vice-president; John Maslyn, secretary; George Bonnell, treasurer; Tim Henecke, reporter; Carl Craig and Ovid Randall, cheerleaders.

Twenty-six members enrolled from the seventh and eighth grades. Regular meetings were held on the first and third Mondays with officers and the various committees meeting on alternate Mondays.

The calendar of events for the year included programs on project planning, bicycle safety, care of tractors, history of farm machinery, the County 4-H Program and others. The programs consisted of movies, talks by outside speakers, demonstrations by members and by our local leader, Mr. Johnson.

The first big event of the year was the Community Fair at which many of the members were able to exhibit. This was held at the school on September 22.

Older members received their achievement pins in October after completing their project records for the previous year.

During November and December quite some time was given over to project planning as well as time to sell Christmas cards in order to raise money for the treasury.

In January, February and March members were busy starting their project program which included dairy, poultry, home garden, swine, home labor records and others. In May two Chester White Gilts were given to two outstanding members for their projects. The year was completed in June with a recreational program.

Junior and Senior High Arts and Crafts Club . . .

The Junior and Senior High Arts and Crafts Club was organized under the leadership of Richard Shoemaker, president; Wayne Iddings, vice-president; Ronald Roberts, secretary.

The Arts and Crafts Club has been busily engaged in many craft projects and painting experiments. Clay, plaster, leather, cork, water colors, ink, colored pencils, charcoal, and pastels have been used. Dental health week posters were made.

Seated: L. Hobart, J. Bengé, R. Roberts, R. Schoemaker, W. Iddings, W. Donk, R. LeClair.

Standing: Miss Joyce E. Mundy, advisor; P. Fink, G. Guard, R. Webb, E. Edington, S. Soles, N. Middlebrook, J. Donaldson, R. Field, A. Morse, A. Parker, J. Henderson, M. Nash, M. Knapp.

In November the chapter took a half day off from school to pick the acre of corn which they were running as an experiment. The corn turned out well, and the boys all enjoyed helping.

In December the chapter held a scrap drive. Cards were sent out to farmers in the area and chapter members drove trucks around to pick up the scrap. Also in December the chapter finished the good seed contest and hopes to come high in the awards.

In January the chapter sponsored its annual basketball team. They won six and lost their final game in the playoffs. On January 29, the chapter held its annual Greenhand Degree with twelve members taking it.

In February the chapter decided on selling seeds. Unlike other years when the chapter received 10 per cent of the seed sale, this year the chapter voted to give 5 per cent to each member.

In March the chapter launched its second drive for farm safety which included a radio broadcast over station W.G.V.A.

In April an open house was held so that the parents and others could visit the agricultural shop and see the projects the chapter members had been working on.

In May the chapter sent a delegate to the State meeting held in Holland-Patent. In the chapter contest the chapter took third place in the state, and won first prize in the Good Seed Contest. Gordon Minns took first prize in the individual award of the Good Seed Contest. Two members of the chapter, Richard Day and Gordon Minns, received their Empire Farmers Award. Also in May the chapter sponsored their annual baseball team and the father and son banquet.

We are hoping that this year will be as successful as others.

MONITOR CLUB AND NEW BUILDING OFFICE AIDS

The Monitor Club consists of members of the senior high school who are stationed at different positions in the upstairs corridors. Their chief function is to keep order in the corridors. To accomplish this, passes are required from the students to go from room to room throughout the building.

The new building office aids are senior high school girls who have volunteered to spend a free period every day at the new school building taking messages in the office and, in the absence of the nurse, helping with the sick.
